The Doge Cookie Token

The Doge cookie native cryptographically secured fungible protocol token (ticker symbol $DCK) is a transferable representation of attributed utility functions provided in the Doge cookie protocol/code and is intended to be used purely as an interoperable utility token thereupon.

$DCK is a functioning multi-utility token that will be utilized as a decentralized means of exchange between Doge Cookie members.

The purpose of establishing $DCK is to provide a convenient and safe mechanism of payment and settlement amongst players interacting inside the Doge Cookie Ecosystem without the use of middlemen such as centralized third-party entities/institution/credit.

It is not and is not intended to be, a medium of exchange accepted by the general public (or a subset of the general public) as payment for goods or services or for the discharge of debt; nor is it designed or intended to be used as payment for any goods or services other than those exclusively provided by the issuer.

$DCK may only be used in the Doge cookie ecosystem, and possession of $DCK confers no rights, express or implied, other than the right to use $DCK as a method to enable consumption and interaction within the Doge Cookie Ecosystem.

The $DCK token is an ERC-20 and BEP-20 token with unique features.

Every buy and sell transaction is subject to a 0.3% $DCK tax. That 0.3% tax goes into the Treasury's coffers. The cash in the treasury wallet will be utilized to further expand the Doge biscuit Ecosystem and to promote adoption through marketing campaigns.
